Polkas and Sausage

by Phil Hrvatin
Polkas and sausage, what a great combo. It’s not something that you easily find in the world today.

On September 11, 2019 the National Cleveland-Style Polka Hall of Fame hosted their 16th Annual Slovenian Sausage Festival at the SNPJ Farm in Kirtland, Ohio.

Over 1,300 individuals enjoyed eight hours of non-stop polka music provided by Canadian polka king Walter Ostanek, Rob DeBlander, Joe Godina, Ron Likovic, Frank Stanger, Anthony Culkar, Patty C and the Guys, the Fairport Jammers and a special Polka Hall of Fame All-Star orchestra.

Bill Azman proprietor of Azman Quality Meats on E 200th Street in Euclid, Ohio won both the Best of Fest Jury Award and the People’s Choice Award. Bill said “I was so busy it didn’t hear the announcement that we had won. We sold out of blood and rice sausage which is typically served in the fall and winter months.”

The party continues at the Polka Hall of Fame’s three-day polka music festival, Thanksgiving weekend, November 28, 29 and 30, 2019, at Cleveland’s Downtown Marriott Hotel. As winner of the People’s Choice, Bill Azman’s prize sausages will be served.

Councilman's Corner - Autumn 2019

by Michael D. Polensek

What a great September – it is hard to believe it's Fall already and you would never know it. We all know what is coming, though, so let's get ahead of the curve. Enjoy the Autumn but at the same time get prepared for the Winter ahead. If you have any potholes or road issues please turn them in NOW. No streets in the neighborhood should have road deficiencies as we move into the winter months. Please be proactive. To report road issues, streetlights out, housing issues, etc., please call them into the City Hotline number at "3-1-1"; just as you would call 9-1-1 for a Police emergency, or 2-1-1 for County Assistance, this number is the new go-to for City complaints.

I hope you all have noticed that there are new LED streetlights going up throughout our ward. As of this writing our ward is about 95% complete according to the City. There were two test wards completed, one east and one west. We were the third ward to receive the new lights due to the fact that our community has the largest customer base of Cleveland Public Power. We have experienced some issues on streets where one side of the street is lit too bright and the other side is too dark. If you are experiencing any problems as a result of the new LED lights installation. Please call CPP Customer Service at (216) 664-4600. In addition, if there are tree branches obstructing the streetlights please call that in as well. We have waited a long time for the new lighting to be installed and we want to make sure that it is having the positive impact on our neighborhood streets.

I want to thank all the folks who came to the presentation at the Recreation Center regarding the Cleveland MetroParks plans for our lakefront which includes Euclid Beach, Villa Angela and Wildwood Marina on September 11th. There is no doubt that our three parks are playing a major role in bringing people down to the lakefront and providing additional recreational opportunities. My sincere thanks to our partners at the MetroParks.

Work on the East 185th Street / Marcella Road storm sewer project is going strong. In fact, they are now working around the clock on the project in an effort to speed up completion and to enhance the tunnel boring, which is taking place far below street level. So far, there have been no major issues or problems with this $15 million project. Let's hope it stays that way.

I wish to thank everyone who turned out for the rededication of the Mark Tromba Pool and Playground located in Collinwood Village on Mandalay Road on Saturday, September 21, 2019. We had a great turnout and I wish to thank Mayor Jackson, Director of Public Works, Michael Cox, and their team for the design and new construction. I worked on this project for almost three years and I am greatly gratified by the final product. It has been my goal to put our parks on par with suburban facilities. I am not through yet. Stay tuned for future recreation projects.

This is the first playground renovation in Ward 8 that has included public artwork. My sincere thanks, as well, to the Tromba family who showed up in force for this rededication. The late Mark Tromba was a neighborhood activist who devoted his short life to neighborhood children and athletic programs. He died at the young age of 49 in 1966. He was a graduate of Collinwood High School. He left behind his wife, Teresa, and two young sons. Those sons combined families now represent a large, close-knit family. Thank you, Mark Tromba, for what you did for the community. It was a special day for me personally for I remember, with fondness, playing football for Collinwood at the Mandalay Field across the street and swimming at the pool. It was a great and beautiful day. THANKS to all who came.

The new Walgreens at 16100 Lakeshore Boulevard is almost complete. It will open the first week of October. I don't have to tell anyone what an improvement this is to the site of the former site of Popeye's Chicken, which was vacant for a long time. I have to commend Walgreen's for they did a great job on the exterior of the building and the landscaping. Let's hope this location is successful, and they keep it well maintained. The soon to be old location at the corner of East 156 Street is now for lease.

I wish to personally thank U.S. Marshall, Pete Elliott, and his team of law enforcement officials. On Thursday, September 12, at the Pro-Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, Ward 8 Safety Coordinator, Greg Pollard, and myself were recognized by the U.S. Marshall Service for our role in "Operation: We are CLE." Greg and I were a part of the planning process for this massive crackdown and sweep of outstanding felony warrants, gang members and individuals involved in the sale of illegal drugs and firearms in the 5th District. My sincere thanks to all of our law enforcement partners for our "Men and Women In Blue" risk their lives every day to protect us; they are truly the "Thin Blue Line."

As I attend one neighborhood meeting after another, you have heard 5th District Commander, Sammy Morris, and I repeatedly say, "If you see something, say something." I cannot stress how critical that is; for, Ward 8 still remains one of the safest places to live on Cleveland's east side and the only way it stays that way is by neighbors being engaged and paying attention. My continued appreciation to Cuyahoga County Prosecutor, Michael O'Malley, and his office, for their aggressive prosecution of violent criminals, not only in our community but city-wide. We have set the tone, time and time again. If you do the crime in Ward 8 – be prepared to do the time. It takes each and every one of us to do our part, though, too. Stay proactive.

I want to also officially announce that East 156 Street between Trafalgar and Lakeshore Boulevard will be resurfaced starting NOW and ending in late October. It will entail a new road surface and new handicapped ramps at all intersections. This is a project that has been on my radar screen for a long time. At least one lane will be open at all times so be aware of any detours. There cannot be any parking on the street between 7:00 AM and 5:00 PM during the week. If there are any issues, please let me know. Please be careful driving. Even though this may be an inconvenience – this project was long overdue and I am glad to finally see it become a reality. As we move into next year I have other resurfacing projects on my radar screen I will be working on, as well.

Last, but by all means not least, I am excited to announce that the LONGFELLOW senior housing project at the former Longfellow School, an historic landmark, located on East 140th Street, is steps closer to becoming reality. We have recently met with Vesta Corporation, the Developer and their construction and planning contractor, Marous Brothers, to discuss the latest plans on this $18 million project. Financing

Aaron Saltzman = 5 (Generation + Commitment)

By Lillian Anderson

The other day I was grocery shopping and a question came to mind: how long have I been a customer of Dave's? I recalled how my stepfather, Thomas (T.S.) Hamilton, would mainly shop here and one other market. Burt Saltzman, the founder of Dave's, was always hands-on: he worked alongside the baggers and the cashiers at the old Dave's (formerly on Payne and E. 33rd Street). He talked to the customers. Aaron Saltzman, a fifth generation owner of Dave's, talked with me about the "fresh experience" of entering a Dave's Market: each location striving to please their customers is what it's all about.

Cleanliness: because we understand how important it is.

The "Fresh Experience": produce needs to be at its freshest. Fresh food. This is the mindset across the whole store, in all our stores. We take pride in what we do.

Our roots are in the city of Cleveland: our stores value the communities we are in and we aim to achieve a level that best reflects and services each neighborhood.

We understand that our stores are a part of the community: we have a model of hiring our valued associates from within the community we service. (Some of the associates are featured in their photo ads displayed in some of their stores.)

We are a family-owned business: five generations of commitment to Cleveland. We now have generations of families shopping with us. So, we thank you Cleveland shoppers for your commitment to us!

Is Collinwood High in Your Child's Future?

by Erin Randel

Remember that insurance ad, "Life comes at you fast"? Your child may have only started grade school, but the Cleveland Metropolitan School District invites you to think about your hopes and dreams for your child's future, and what kind of high school experience you look forward to giving them to prepare them for their future.

They've taken significant action at the elementary level here: since 2002, the district has rebuilt Collinwood's five largest elementary schools--East Clark, Euclid Park, Hannah Gibbons Memorial and O.H. Perry. Each offers free, full day Preschool, Kindergarten, and 1st through 8th grades in clean and secure modern buildings. As public schools, they are committed to serving all children regardless of special needs, and have reported steady improvements on state measures.

Now it's time to plan around your needs in secondary schooling. Collinwood High School (the building) once had 3,000 students. Enrollment in New Tech Collinwood (the academic program now in the building) has hovered around 300 students in recent years.

Is Collinwood High in your child's future? Why or why not? What kind of program would CMSD need to offer for you and your family? Where, and in what setting, would you like that program to be offered? Eric Gordon and his team want to hear from you, the parents and caregivers of their future students.

The planning happening now will shape the programs opened and building plans over the next 5-7 years. Don't miss your chance to hear directly from CEO Gordon about the challenges we face citywide and as a neighborhood, and give feedback. You can do this at a meeting on Saturday, October 5 at Collinwood High School, 15210 St. Clair Ave., or online, at www.QualitySchoolsforCLEkids.org to view the citywide data and share your feedback.

Urban activist Majora Carter's is known for saying that, "you shouldn't have to move out of your neighborhood to live in a better one." With this process, you have a chance to shape the school district to meet your needs. You shouldn't have to move to go to a better school.

New Publisher Joining Gatewood Work/Share

BeLonging Books was birthed almost two years ago when Kat Willihnganz met The Reading Room founder L.S. Quinn and literary talent scout Anna Risher. Now the three of them are setting up shop at the Gatewood Work/Share as BeLonging Books—with Willihnganz acting as the primary book editor, Risher acting as a scout, Quinn doing copy editing and marketing, and Gatewood Work/Share owner Robert Gatewood doing graphic design. Willihnganz has written three YA novels for St. Martin's Press (under the pseudonym Kit Alloway). The imprint is actively seeking submissions from people of all ethnicities, abilities, sexual orientations and walks of life, with the goal of releasing its first collection in 2020.

Local Sausage Scores Again

At the 16th Annual Slovenian Sausage Festival, Azman Quality Meats of Euclid earned the rare honor of winning both the Best of Fest Jury Award and the People's Choice Award. Raddell's Sausage Shop scored runner-up in both categories. The event was hosted by the National Cleveland-Style Polka Hall of Fame in September, at the SNPJ Farm in Kirtland.

More than 1,300 hungry music-lovers enjoyed eight hours of polka music and savory sausages. Fifty musicians and accordionists, including Canada's Polka King Walter Ostanek, volunteered their services at the fundraiser for the Polka Hall of Fame. Slovenian sausage is made with pork, often accented with garlic, and then cured and smoked.

Nearly 2,000 sausages were purchased at the event. The National Cleveland-Style Polka Hall of Fame celebrates the style of American dance music that emerged from the city's neighborhoods and became a national sensation, with America's Polka King Frank Yankovic, in the decades after World War II. The museum is located at 605 East 222nd Street in Euclid, in the city's historic former city hall. For more information, check the website at www.polkaafame.com or call (216) 621- FAME.

On Wednesday October 30th, ploggers will meet outside Waterloo Arts at the Waterloo Arts Tower (15600 Waterloo Rd) at 6pm. Ploggers will clean Waterloo Rd. and surrounding streets before wrapping up around 7pm.

After that, we'll wrap up and hit up one of the local watering holes of Waterloo and enjoy some pizza and spooky beverages.

Best part of all, come plogging dressed in your most frightening or fanciful costume! We'll award a prize at the end of the night to the best plogging costume - people's choice award!

Remember, you don't have to run marathons to go plogging! This will be slow paced run - just under 2 miles - with plenty of stops along the way - to pick up trash!

Please wear clothing and costumes you don't mind getting sweaty and a little dirty and please wear closed toed shoes - preferably shoes you don't mind running in! Water and light refreshments will be provided before we head out.

All ploggers will also receive a coupon to Chili Peppers Fresh Mexican Grill - good for 1/2 off your purchase of a meal item and drink - talk about a sweet deal!

Still don't know what the heck 'plogging' is all about?

Plogging is a fitness trend that originated in Sweden and is slowly spreading throughout the world. The term Plogging is derived from the Swedish phrase "plocka upp," which translates to pick up. Plogging involves a combination of jogging and picking up trash along your running route using a plastic bag to collect the litter you find along your route. Plogging is great exercise and a great opportunity to make a positive impact on our environment and our neighborhood.

E 185th Neighborhood Association / the Census! (And Other Things!)

by Elva Brodnick

Our September 10th meeting was once more very informational!

Councilman Polensek started us off, with updates on the Marcella sewer project (it's a 24 hour project, due to the tunneling they're doing), the new LED streetlights being installed throughout the neighborhood (call CPP if they seem to need adjustment), progress is being made on the dirt bike problem (if you have an address where you see these congregating - call & let the police know; someone doing this, has already helped.) He also urged everyone to return their Census form, as it impacts things like redistricting, federal & state dollars spent etc etc.

Our Fifth District Community Engagement Officers then also fielded questions & concerns from our members.

Krystal Sierra, from Greater Collinwood Development Corp, then filled us in on the new "Neighborhood Family Feud Game" coming up in October, as well as the latest Neighborhood survey. The survey also will help come up with questions, for the Family Feud. <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/collinwoodconnects>

Next up was Lauren Calevich, from the La Salle Arts & Media Center, with info on rentals - & the upcoming Open House.

Our main speaker for the evening was next, Audrey Wynne, from the Census Bureau. Audrey pointed out how important being part of the Census is, & was able to answer many questions about the Census. (By the way: the Census is hiring!)

As always, we invite you to check out your local Neighborhood Association - the meetings are always listed in the Community Meetings calendar here in the Collinwood Observer. This is your regular chance, to talk to both the Councilman, & our local Police District - & it's a great way to be active in this community of ours.

Look forward to seeing you! (And bring a neighbor!)

See you next month!

CMSD schedules more planning meetings

by CMSD News Bureau
The Cleveland Metropolitan School District will resume meetings to plan the future of the District's academic programs and facilities, with the first session scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 28 at Max S. Hayes High School, 2211 W. 65th St.
The first five meetings will focus on all high schools, allowing the District to share data and collect feedback on academic quality, enrollment trends and forecasts, and building use and conditions. One of those meetings will be at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 5 at New Tech Collinwood High School, 15210 St. Clair Ave.
The next five meetings will include presentation of proposed recommendations for both K-8 and high schools. For a schedule of meetings, go to qualityschoolsforCLEkids.org
Meetings on K-8 schools were held in the spring.
The District is trying to efficiently use limited resources, which could mean consolidating some schools and closing some buildings. The goal is to keep the pledge, included in The Cleveland Plan, to make quality education available to every neighborhood.
CMSD has more than 100 schools, and enrollment in a majority of the schools is below capacity. As a result, programs and resources are stretched. The challenges are not limited to the District; charter and private schools are affected, too.
The school board and the Bond Accountability Commission recommended that CMSD revisit a five-year-old building plan based on current neighborhood population and enrollment patterns, changes in academic programming and rising construction costs. The commission is an independent watchdog created to monitor an ongoing modernization program that the District is paying for with state funds and a local bond issue.

State of the Schools highlights momentum

by CMSD News Bureau
Cleveland's public schools have a long way to go but are gathering momentum, CEO Eric Gordon said Sept. 26 in the annual State of the Schools address.
Speaking to a packed ballroom at the Renaissance Cleveland Hotel, Gordon repeated a theme sounded after a new state report card raised CMSD's overall grade from an F to a D. He has said the District will not celebrate a D but will celebrate the report card's many signs of significant progress.
In his speech, hosted by the City Club, Gordon described that progress by using references to the laws of the 17th Century physicist and mathematician Isaac Newton. The CEO said the District had, with strong community support, moved from a state of rest to motion.
"In Newton's terms, the mass that is the Cleveland Metropolitan School District is not only accelerating its progress, but it is gaining momentum," he said.
Gordon cited highlights from the report card, including improvement in K-3 literacy, overall test scores and the graduation rate, which has reached the latest in a series of record highs for the District. CMSD's growth in those categories outpaced that of most school districts in the state. At times, he punctuated sentences with "That's momentum."
The CEO also peeled back the label of the letter grade to reveal complex learning widely found in "joyful, adventurous classrooms."

He put faces and names on students and educators who successfully made synthetic fuel for a car, developed an app for the Northern Ohio chapter of the Federal Bar Association, converted and operate school bus that now serves as a food truck, wrote and produced a powerful play about gun violence, performed community service featured in a current Cleveland History Center exhibit and more.
"One needs only to visit a classroom in the Cleveland Metropolitan School District to see and feel the difference, to understand what momentum is, what it looks like in action and what impact these changes are having on the way Cleveland's kids think, learn and act," Gordon said.
Jonah Medina, a senior at the John Marshall School of Information Technology, helped create the app and was present for the State of the Schools address. The project helped him prepare for a career in software development that he hopes to study for at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.
"It was a great experience," he said. "It's not every day a student gets to make something of that importance."

Aiyanna Martin '21 learns public safety skills

by Cheryl Stashinko '03

In just six short weeks this summer, VASJ junior Aiyanna Martin '21 gained valuable professional development and work skills through the Public Safety Career Pipeline Program. The program, now in its third year, focuses on increasing women and minorities in law enforcement and public safety fields to reflect the communities being served. Aiyanna went through extensive training, learned about careers in public safety, created a resume, participated in mock interviews, completed a capstone project, earned CPR certification, and created a website to promote her personal brand.

Initially, Aiyanna wasn't sure about a career in public safety but was encouraged by her step-dad, who works as an EMT, to take part in the program. Aiyanna participated in rigorous, physical training that firefighters and officers go through, including going up a building in gear and learning how to put out a dumpster fire. Similar to how police and fire departments form close relationships within their units, the same sense of teamwork and support was felt among the students. "It felt like home. We learned as a family," Aiyanna said.

Aiyanna said that completing CPR certification and the capstone project proved to be the most rewarding aspects of the summer program. At only 15, Aiyanna is proud to be equipped with the skills necessary to save a life. For her capstone, she researched the impact of poverty within the African American community and resources available to help those in need. This project deeply impacted her, as she acknowledged having friends who face economic hardships. Reflecting on the project, Aiyanna said, "Even being young, I have a voice and can make a positive change in the world." Her capstone team earned third place out of more than 20 teams.

For Aiyanna, the Public Safety Career Pipeline Program was more than just a summer experience. Her eyes were opened to the possibility of careers serving her community. After learning about one team leader's decision to join the Air Force, Aiyanna was inspired to learn more and consider the same option for herself after VASJ and before entering college.

VASJ alums celebrate at All-Alumni Reunion

by Kristen Mott '09

About 170 alums from Villa Angela Academy, St. Joseph High School and Villa Angela-St. Joseph High School gathered in the school gym Sept. 13 for the All-Alumni Reunion. Open to all graduates, the event included a special happy anniversary to those classes ending in '4 and '9.

The event featured food, refreshments, music, and the chance for alums to reminisce and share good times with their classmates.

According to Cheryl Stashinko '03, associate director of alumni relations, the event is a way to recognize graduates from all classes.

"The All-Alumni Reunion takes the pressure off classes trying to plan a private reunion," Stashinko says. "We encourage classes to let us do the work and enjoy the evening reminiscing with old friends and making a few new ones along the way."

With the event being hosted at the school, alums are able to explore the building and discover updates and changes that have taken place since they graduated.

"Alumni have a chance to walk the building on their own or with one of our wonderful student ambassadors on a guided tour," Stashinko says. "It's always nice to see a current student and an alum connect. The years between them do not matter — what's important is the fact that we are all a Viking family!"

If your class is planning a reunion, please contact Cheryl Stashinko at cstashinko@vasj.com or 216-481-8414 ext. 254 to inform the school of your event.

VASJ Opening Mass welcomes Holy Spirit

VASJ senior LaShonda Bailey and junior Clarke Moore suspended a new, brightly colored banner with the symbol of the Holy Spirit over the altar.

by Sophie Sito '20

As the school year for Villa Angela-St. Joseph begins, it also means that it is time for the opening school Mass. This Mass was very special because Bishop Gries joined us in the celebration. Bishop Gries' homily tied into the theme of the Mass, which was "Come, Holy Spirit." He talked to the students about how they can bring the spirit of the Viking Village, "Faith, Family, Future," out into the world.

The school Mass took a lot of preparation, and the new Director of Campus Ministry, Brianna Wilson, and Assistant Director, Christin Van Atta, met the task head on with the assistance of their new Campus Ministry Leadership team composed of 14 junior and senior VASJ students.

Senior China Williams worked on promoting the Mass by posting a before-and-after picture on the school's Instagram. Senior LaShonda Bailey and junior Clarke Moore organized the gym for the Mass, which included placing flowers and suspending a new, brightly colored banner with the symbol of the Holy Spirit over the altar. These girls worked hard to create a new design so that the students could feel more engaged with the Mass while giving the space a new atmosphere. Juniors Mark Ballard coordinated the lectors and Eucharistic Ministers. Finally, Junior Jasmine Riddle and Senior Rhiannon Edwards designed the worship aid.

Overall the entire Mass was a huge success with lots of positive feedback from students, staff and the surrounding community. Wilson and Van Atta helped push all members of the Campus Ministry Leadership Team to help make the school's opening Mass one that is surely to be remembered.

September 21st was the International Day of Peace. The Nonviolence Ministry of OLL embraced this day with a message of peace by making (and encouraging the school children to make) origami peace cranes. The members of the Nonviolence Ministry distributed the peace cranes at all Masses and invited parishioners and the school children to pray for world peace. The story behind the peace cranes is one of peace and hope for the future.

The vision of the Nonviolence Ministry is "To reduce violence in our hearts, in our community and in the world beyond". The next meeting of the Nonviolence Ministry is on October 24 at 6p in the OLL Rectory.

nity in prayer and then everyone processed with the Marian statue back to the church for evening prayer, singing a Marian Litany along the way. The evening ended with an Ice Cream Social to cap off an extraordinary day! Our Lady of the Lake Parish will celebrate 10 years in February 2020.

Welcome Back St. Jerome

Eighth Grade teacher Mr. Daniels and eighth grade scholar Tyree.

by Davon Daniels

Everyone at St. Jerome is excited to welcome the community back for a great year! This past week we have been introducing the expectations of our classrooms and policies. As well as that, we have received an opportunity to meet the new faculty and students with welcoming arms. As an Instructor, this week we have given students backgrounds on ourselves and in return having students tell us dreams that they would like to see come true as they approach the school year and the real world. As a class, students' collaborated with leadership skills and communication skills during icebreaker activities. These activities have shown teachers a glimpse of how certain students react to high pressured situations and to show students the different perspectives of success. Morris Ervin has years of experience in education and has been working with schools in California and Cleveland, Ohio. There is one new addition to the classroom, primarily with the seventh and eighth grade class. That new addition is that every morning after prayer and at the beginning of class, students' have been meditating. This Meditation consists of statements of affirmation and mantras, "I am" statements. This meditation is to build self awareness with students and to help them create the day and future that they want. Students will be able to use this tool on and off school grounds in any situation that they shall overcome. St. Jerome scholars are excited about the school year and looking forward to it unfolding in a positive way.

Fifth Grade News

These students were using the Scientific Method for this activity.

by Marilyn Ottato

The fifth grade at St. Jerome's school will be learning some neat things in science class this year. We have started out with the Scientific Method in the beginning of the year. We did an activity called The Cat in the Bag activity which helped the students go through the steps of the Scientific Method. In this activity, they moved from one table to the next trying to figure out what object was in the bag. They drew what they thought the object was and then wrote a description of the object. Science is just like this. The answers to our questions are hidden and we have to go through the process and experiment to find the answers.

In Reading class we have been reading about naturalists like John Audubon, John Muir and Rachel Carson. We read a story about Teddy Roosevelt and how this one president set aside more land than any other president for us to enjoy the beauty that he saw when he went camping with John Muir. He was so impressed with Muir's strong opinion about preserving land for National Parks.

We hope that everyone at St. Jerome's School has a very successful school year.

guard for the school children of St. Jerome and Memorial schools. He died while on duty after assisting the victim of a motorcycle

Officer Philip Maher was a role model and friend to Collinwood residents, serving as a police patrolman and as a crossing guard for the school children of St. Jerome and Memorial schools. He died while on duty after assisting the victim of a motorcycle accident. The Corner of East 152nd and Lake Shore Blvd. is known as Maher Square in his honor and a stone monument was placed at the corner.

The monument has been struck by cars several times over the years and has finally been moved to a safer location, the front yard of St. Jerome School where so many of the children he looked out for each day went to school. A rededication ceremony was held Friday, September 27th with members of the Maher family and the current students of St. Jerome in attendance.

It's been a Year to Remember

In July the Most Reverend Nelson Perez joined St. Jerome Pastor, Reverend William Jerse and former Pastors, the Reverends Francis Walsh and Thomas Haren to celebrate Mass for our Centennial Gala.

Approximately 460 people came together to celebrate a century of faith, fellowship and family at the Irish American Club East Side. Generations of St. Jerome families and Alumni attended.

by Adele Markert

Beginning with the Feast of St. Jerome September 30, 2018 until the Clam/Steak Bake on September 29, 2019 it has been a year filled with wonderful memories. Many took advantage of the various opportunities to reconnect with classmates, former neighbors and old friends at various reunions, concerts, and the Gala Celebration held in July. The Beacon on the Boulevard continues to shine.

It would be unheard of today, but in 1931 this 3rd grade class of over 50 children was not unusual. At its peak enrollment St. Jerome School had over 450 students. And that was before Kindergarten or Pre-School!

Old Blue Eyes Did It in 1955, Lady Gaga Did It in 2014, and Indiana Jones Did It in Mandarin in 1984

by MP Monaghan
"In olden days, a glimpse of stocking Was looked on as something shocking. But now, God knows, Anything goes." Anything Goes is the iconic title song from the play of the same name featuring music and lyrics by Cole Porter. The play contains some of the most memorable and hummable songs in musical theater such as It's De-Lovely, I Get A Kick out of You, and You're the Top. Anything Goes has been performed by a myriad of artists from Frank Sinatra to the Dave Brubeck Quartet. The title song features in a collaboration between Lady Gaga and Tony Bennett, and parts of it were translated into Mandarin for the movie Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom in 1984. It's no wonder, then, that the show and its music attract cast and crew members from all walks of life. The Silhouette Production at Shore Cultural Centre in October is no exception. Laura Telepak is most often found teaching art at North Elementary School but this production finds her in the role of Director. She is excited to be around a talented cast that "brings energy and creativity to every rehearsal." Clayton Minder plays the role of Moon-face Martin when not in character as the Chief Financial Officer of Envision Holdings. "I challenge anyone to walk out of this production not humming one or several tunes for days," he says. He didn't start performing in community theater until he was 40, and credits his wife and daughters for encouraging him to audition for his first performance. Josh Linerode is often seen with a bow, but he'll be taking a bow in the role of Ship's Purser in this production. Few people know that Josh is a licensed archery instructor. Instead he's most often mistaken for a basketball player since he clocks in just shy of 7 feet tall. Josh is an Advising Generalist at Lake Erie College and says that learning to tap dance for this role is the most challenging part he's undertaken to date. Tri-C’s Black Diamonds Conference Serves to Empower African American Women

by John Horton

The two-day Black Diamonds Women's Conference at Cuyahoga Community College (Tri-C) offers inspiration and guidance to African American women determined to "level up." The conference will take place Oct. 18-19 at Tri-C's Metropolitan Campus. The event is designed to expand the readiness and participation of African American women in fields that traditionally offered few opportunities. Conference sessions will focus on building mental, emotional and physical well-being; creating educational and occupational opportunities; and developing financial empowerment. The agenda includes more than 80 presentations designed to resonate with all attendees, whether they are in high school, enrolled in college or establishing themselves as career professionals. Keynote speakers will be Raquel Eatmon, a national speaker on women's leadership, CEO of Rising Media and founder of the Woman of Power Conference; and Ramona Hood, vice president of operations, strategy and planning for FedEx Custom Critical. Black Diamonds runs 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, Oct. 18, and 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 19. The conference begins a year-long series of workshops to build on the momentum generated at the event. The two-day registration is $50 and includes lunches. Visit www.tri-c.edu/black-diamonds to reserve a seat. Metro Campus is located at 2900 Community College Ave. in Cleveland. The conference is a collaborative effort between educational institutions, community organizations, corporate partners and individuals to provide developmental opportunities for African American women and girls in Northeast Ohio. Sponsors for the Tri-C event include the Sigma Public Education and Research (SPEAR) Foundation, Dominion East Ohio, The Presidents' Council, Saint Luke's Foundation and Summit Magazine.

by Mayor's Office of Communications
CLEVELAND –Mayor Frank G. Jackson along with Michael Cox, Director of Public Works and Councilman Michael Polensek (Ward 8) joined city dignitaries and residents on Sept. 21 for a ribbon cutting ceremony to commemorate the renovation of Mark Tromba Park.

"Mark Tromba Park is a neighborhood park," said Mayor Jackson. "This community owns this park emotionally and physically. It is good for the community."

The $1.2 million renovation of the Collinwood neighborhood park includes a new splash pad, playgrounds with swings, two basketball courts and a tennis court. Visitors can also utilize new amenities including a drinking fountain, game tables, benches and waste receptacles. Other renovations consist of expanded parking to accommodate 26 vehicles, lighting, fencing repairs and the removal of tall perimeter fences to create a more welcoming environment.

In an effort to support the sustainable development of the city, the park now provides 33 percent more green space in the overall design. The park will also feature a public art sculpture by Cleveland artist Charlotte Lees, located at the confluence of the park's walk ways.

About Mark Tromba

Mark Tromba was a first generation immigrant from Italy. At the age of six he came to America with his parents and family. After completing high school Mr. Tromba served in the U.S. Army during World War 2 and upon his return he settled in the Collinwood neighborhood working days at his job and volunteering his time with the Collinwood Booster Club and, in the evenings, helped start Cleveland's Little League Baseball program.

Between Two Ferns (Netflix)

Ad Astra Movie Review

by Brian Friedman
Between Two Ferns: The Movie (Netflix) movie review - As a huge fan of the Funny or Die streaming series, I was excited for this movie released directly to Netflix. The writers throw a lot of punchlines at a thin plot with several landing but not quite enough. If you are a fan of the series, check it out. Everyone else can skip. If you do watch, many of the best laughs come from the blooper reel during the credits. Don't miss those. Grade: Solid C.

by Brian Friedman
Ad Astra Movie Review - The film is dependent on two things (1) Brad Pitt's performance as he is the only actor in the vast majority of scenes and (2) The payoff at the end being worth the journey. The film throughout maintains a consistent inching along as Pitt attempts to reach the far ends of space but he is emotionally detached intentionally and his lack of emotional response to challenges make him a difficult protagonist to like. The payoff just isn't there as it is too short and lacks the weight of resolution necessary for the movie's running time. If you watch, don't get too involved in any side characters along the way. About a dozen of them come and go as soon as you might get emotionally attached. Grade: D plus.
